Sing to Me a Little

Words: Bayram al-Tonsi
Melody: Zakariyya Ahmad
from the film: "Salaama"

Sing to me a little bit
Sing and “take my eye”
Let me speak melodies Which listeners will lean toward To which the boughs will flutter as well as the narcissus and the jasmine And on which travelers will travel forgetting the desert wastes

A little bit, just a little, a little bitty bit

Sing to me and take my eye

Singers are the life of the spirit
When the sick hear it they get well
And they cure the injured livers, which amazes the doctors And it makes the darkness of night in the eyes of the lovers like a mild breeze

A little bit, just a little, a little bitty bit
